returning from patrolling duty and has recommended the case for financial assistance, noting the enormous emotional and financial burden on her family.

- The rapidly escalating medical expenses are far beyond the financial means of the family. The emotional toll on the family is unimaginable.

The Committee considered the above proposal and found it a fit case for providing financial assistance, given the severity of the injuries, the incapacitation of the forest guard in the line-of-duty, and the financial vulnerability of the family.

The Committee recommends immediate financial assistance of Rs. 2.5 lakh to Ms. Rashmita Subudhi from the Indian Forest Service Benevolent and Welfare Trust, New Delhi, to help cover her medical treatment expenses and ease the burden on her family.

The meeting ended with vote of thanks.
